Mean Streets (1973) [112 min.]

Directed by Martin Scorsese

Martin Scorsese's gripping early crime saga follows two men's journey into adulthood against the Mean Streets of New York's Little Italy. While small time gangster Harvey Keitel tries to balance friends, family and Catholic guilt with a life of crime, his emotionally unhinged & self-destructive friend Johnny Boy (Robert De Niro) threatens to topple it all when he gets over his head in debt to a vicious loan shark.

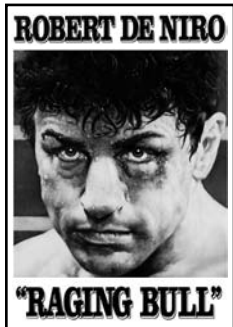

Saturday • January 11

Taxi Driver (1976) [114 min.]

Directed by Martin Scorsese

Martin Scorsese directs Paul Schrader's searing script about alienation and desperation, following a shattered Vietnam Vet haunting the neon-lit streets of seedy '70s NYC as a nightshift Taxi Driver as he hurtles towards his imagined destiny. The gritty and hard-hitting masterpiece features an all-time great performance from Robert De Niro and scored the Palme d'Or at the Cannes Film Festival for the director.

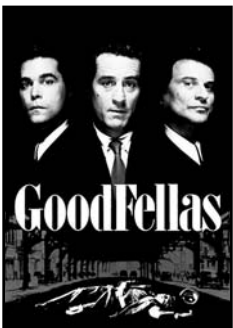

Saturday • January 18

Raging Bull (1980) [129 min.]

Directed by Martin Scorsese

Martin Scorsese's cinematic re-birth explores the tragic self-destruction of the unstable, macho Jake La Motta as the violence and rage that spurred success inside the boxing ring spills destructively into his outside life. Robert De Niro gives a titanic, Oscar-winning lead performance, as wrathful as it is charismatic, with stellar supporting performances from Joe Pesci and Cathy Moriarty, plus indelible cinematography by Michael Chapman and Academy Award-winning editing by Thelma Schoonmaker.

Saturday • January 25

Goodfellas (1990) [146 min.]

Directed by Martin Scorsese

Martin Scorsese's electrifying adaptation of Nicholas Pileggi's true crime bestseller charts the rise and fall of real-life mobster Henry Hill, his family, and his underworld associates. Told over three decades of life in the mafia, GoodFellas is a stylish, sharply-detailed masterpiece fueled by a propulsive period soundtrack, razor-sharp editing by Thelma Schoonmaker, and unforgettable performances by its pitch-perfect cast, including Ray Liotta, Robert De Niro, Joe Pesci, and Lorraine Bracco.
